

Amulet gem: Isis Pelagia

CBd-Number	CBd-1020
ID-Number	GB-BM-MMEu_AF 329
Collection	GB_London, The British Museum
Inventory	PE AF 329
Material	onyx (banded)
Dimensions	max. diameter: 64 mm
Iconography	Isis Pelagia; crown, Isis-; clothing: garment; rudder; sail
Place of discovery	Carthage

Credits:
Rights: © Trustees of the British Museum

A: Three-quarter view of a female figure (Isis Pelagia) standing atop a ship. The goddess is wearing a long garment, on her head the Isis-crown. She is looking to right, towards the stern of the ship, while holding the sail with both her hands lowered beside the body and slightly stretched out to the left. Behind her: the rudder of the ship. Inscription around the edge, beginning above the rudder, in mirror writing: navigata felix.

B: Plain.

From the Carthage-treasure, see Baratte 2002, 7-9.

Bibliography

C. Metzger in Baratte 2002, 85-6, pl. II, fig. 5.

Nagy 2011, 76, pl.2.

Bricault, Isis, dame des flots, 63, fig. 25, and n. 33.

Last modified: 2015-12-02 12:07:28