A: Four-winged Bes-Pantheos standing to front, feet to right, on an Ouroboros forming a cartouche, which encloses, from left to right a scarab, a hawk, a goat, a jackal, a lion, a crocodile, and a cobra, all facing right. The god's face is bearded, four animal-protomes project from the sides of the head, which is topped by an elaborate crown (atef, or decorated with animal-protomes). The god has two pairs of wings and arms: the upper arms - in line with the top of the upper wings - are stretched to the sides and hold knives, cobras, scepters (hieroglyphs?). In the lower right arm: scorpion, whip and snake, in the lower left arm: lion and flail. Behind the wings: was-scepters on each side forming standards. A double strap crosses the chest in X-shape, the god wears a bird's tail and a crocodile's tail. There are tufts on the knees, feet are in the form of jackals' heads.

B: Inscription in eight lines:
